Sperminator fathers three members of GW

by The Way
I Hate The Dead

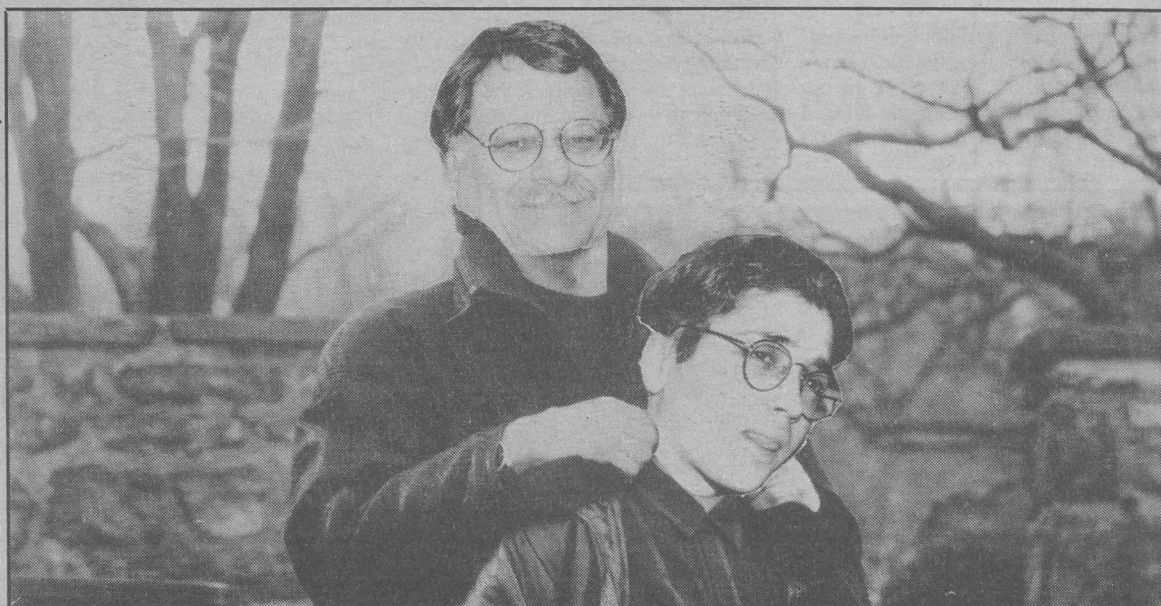

Medical records uncovered in GW's in-vitro fertilization department prove beyond a shadow of a doubt that GW President Semen Gel Slappin'Her, newly-elected SA President Mike Pissante and Dean of Students Windy Donnels are biological siblings, all having been fathered by esteemed GW Medical School graduate, Cecil B. Jacobson, the Sperminator.

"You could imagine not only my surprise, but also the great pride I take in the discovery," Pissante exclaimed while jumping up and down with joy upon hearing the news.

Slappin'Her's reaction was not quite as jubilant. He expressed his downright disappointment at not only having to talk to Pissante weekly next year, but to have to actually address the four-foot, two-inch tall sophomore as "brother."

"We're talking about a 40-year age difference," Slappin'Her lamented. "What the hell are we going to talk about. We have nothing in common."

Pissante acknowledged the age gap could present a problem, but he nonetheless expressed excitement about taking "fun" trips with his newly-discovered big brother, especially to the zoo, "where there are lots of neat animals." Pissante also said he was looking forward to getting clothing hand-me-downs from Slappin'Her. "Bro's got some really nice sweater vests, I hope he doesn't mind my borrowing," Pissante commented.

Donnels said having two new brothers should really help the family spirit on campus. She said she had a few technical questions about the discovery. In particular, she wanted to know if she could continue to kiss Pissante passionately since "we're not really brother and sister."

The three had a family breakfast last Tuesday to commemorate the findings. At the meal, they decided on a common surname they could all share to acknowledge their familial tie. To incorporate part of each name, all three will go by Slappin'Pissells, effective tomorrow. The Slappin'Pissells triplets will move in together, as well, for a two-month span, "to catch up" on each others' lives, Donnels said. The three will share a Mitchell Hall single so they "can really be close," Pissante said.

The family plans to visit "Dad" in prison weekly and bring him lots of GW paraphernalia.

"I really tried to do a lot of my fathering while I was at GW so that all my children would have a better shot at getting into this prestigious University," Jacobson said in an interview from his holding cell.

Jacobson claims to have told most Medical Center officials about using his own semen while at GW. "When I told L. Thompson Moles about my idea to flog my bishop and use my own sperm to make babies, he said 'Sure, what the hell do we care?'" In fact, Jacobson recalls Moles asking if he could get in to the act, as well.

MIA prez Farm Boy spotted on Dead tour

by Jack Straw and

Goin' Down the Road Feelin' Bad
ON TOUR, SPRING 1992 —
Erstwhile Student Association President Klyde Farm Boy, whose presence in the SA office has been virtually nill this semester, hasn't been avoiding the office, he just hasn't been in town. Instead, Farm Boy has dedicated much of his time this semester to following the Grateful Dead.

"Oh, man, there's nothing like a Dead show," Farm Boy said. He has been following the Dead on their spring tour, which began in Atlanta last month. "The band seemed kind of down in Atlanta, but they always start tours slow. But by the time they got to the Cap Centre, WOW!"

Farm Boy said he hitched a ride to Georgia for the beginning of the tour after calamity struck his 1973 light blue VW "Magic" Bus. Since then he has been selling veggie bagels and falafels at every show to raise money to get him to the next scene.

"That bus was my home, man," Farm Boy lamented. "It had been to a lot of good shows. I took that bus to Oakland on New Year's. I'm not really sure what happened. All I know is that I'm driving to the Atlanta shows when I smelled something burning. Next thing I know my bus is on fire. Must of been bad Karma or something. Talk about a bad trip. Damn."

Following the Dead is nothing new for Farm Boy. He often tells the story of his parents living in Haight-Ashbury during the Summer of Love. They can't prove it, but Farm Boy's parents believe young Klyde was conceived at a Dead show at the Fillmore, during a particularly powerful rendition of "Hard to Handle."

Young Klyde was born nine months later in a parking lot in Beckley, W.Va., during the Dead's much heralded Bible Belt tour.

As for the current tour, Farm Boy has been impressed by the band. "I was late to the first show because of the bus, but when I got there some guy wearing Birks dosed me. Need-

Court judges to try themselves in case

by Singin' Fool
Taxi!!!!!!!

Student Court judges Chris on your Honor, Jeremy Booby, Captain Kirk Neilson and Chief Joker Frank Hadella will be tried this Friday for violating section MXXVIII subsection Q on alternate Thursday's of the Student Code of Conduct. However, Honor, Booby, Neilson and Hadella have not recused themselves from the case because they said they are capable of being unbiased.

Hadella said the charges are unjust and said he is not concerned about the ability of the court to try the case of Pope John Paul Donoho et al vs. On Your Honor, Booby, Neilson and Hadella et al. fairly. He added that he does not think it gives the court the appearance of being biased.

Just End the elections Committee Chair Pope John Paul Donoho is suing the four members for an incident he said occurred on Feb. 25, when Neilson, Donoho's roommate, had the court members over for dinner. Donoho claims the court members strapped him by his ankles, suspended him from the ceiling and made him promise to rig the ballot in favor of Mike "Stretch" Musk Rat and Lil' Juan Tarlater.

"This case is a crock, it's not true. But I have utmost confidence that myself and the other judges can try this case objectively. Just because we are the defendants does not mean we will go lightly on ourselves. I will conduct this court in the same serious manner that I always have," Hadella said.

"Hank tried to make me promise not to let anyone besides Stretch win. I tried to fight back, but they began reciting 'The Electric Kool-Aid Acid Test' to me and I couldn't think straight," Donoho said. "I feel I have to right the wrongs that were Happy April Fools Day!

Devil's Asshole

I hate everybody! And if I don't hate you yet, I will soon!

I hate everyone. I just want to get that out of the way, so everyone knows it. Male or female, gentile or Jew, white or black, heterosexual or homosexual, Eurocentric or Afrocentric, I'm an equal opportunity offender. People get pissed at me because of it, and I don't understand why. They say, "Where do you get off?!" and I say in the bathroom or in my bed usually. Why is that offensive?

I don't know, maybe it is just me. Maybe I'm as big of an asshole as I think everyone else is. But I can't bitch at myself, so instead, I make everyone else miserable. I like being known as the biggest dickhead on campus, Dave Pecker aside, that is. He wins because I am always right, and I am writing this column and he isn't.

One thing few people know about me is I am a progressive person, really. Hell, I voted for three black Student Association presidential candidates, even though I'm against any civil rights legislation. Screw 'em, let them get their own job. I'm also into rap. Hey man, Public Enemy #1. For the record, that's better than my pinko idiot editor Fred Crotch, who is a racist. He voted for Rob Cohen his freshman year, you know. What a joker.

People accuse me of not being sensitive to women's issues. Bite me. I know what women think, after all, I go out with one and have a mother. Sure, I think Mike Tyson should be let back on the street and be able to have his way with any woman he wants, but he's the former heavyweight champion, after all. A little rape shouldn't get in his way — it's a man's world, ladies, and if you don't like it, get your lazy butts into the kitchen, cook me a turkey pot pie and pop out some puppies. But really, I get a bad deal. I'm pro-choice, so get over it.

Because I'm a Republican, people think I'm a fascist. If you think that, you're stereotyping and as bad as me. The Quit-It staff always gets on my back because I'm so pro-business, especially Crotch. My old man rolled in the dough, and I want my share. Fuck the government and all those freaking liberals who want to tax the rich. Some day, I will be a billionaire, earning it off the backs of poor trash who I pay the minimum wage. And will I feel guilty? Hell no, the bums should have gotten off their asses and done it for themselves. Just because they had to help support their single mother and five siblings while attending an inner-city high school and getting shot at, while I went to lily-white high — where the average SAT is 1400 — and to a $50,000 a year college, isn't my fault. Life sucks for some, but I am profiting from it. Tough shit.

Don't you love when I do that? When I use bullets, I want everyone to think I had so many good ideas, I felt the need to spew about more than one of them. In actuality, however, it is because I did not start writing my column until 1 a.m. Monday morning and need to throw in as much crap as possible to fill the space provided. Just so you know.

Let me share a few thoughts with you on the Quit-It in closing. Basically, we are all egomaniacs. The sooner the public realizes all we care about is writing a story that will land us on the staff of The Washington Post, the better off it will be. Stop coming to us ask whether we can do a story about your bake sales and speakers from Greenland. We really couldn't give a hoot.

PRINCIPLES of SOUND RETIREMENT INVESTING

WHY YOU SHOULD START PLANNING FOR RETIREMENT WITH YOUR EYES CLOSED.

For retirement to be the time of your life, you have to dream a little—about the things you've always wanted to do: travel, explore, start a business. Just imagine...

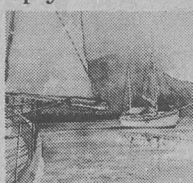

With a dream and a plan, you can make it happen. Your pension and Social Security should provide a good basic retirement income, but what about all those extras that make your dreams possible? You'll probably need some additional savings.

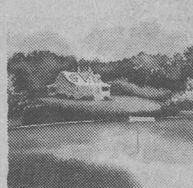

THE DREAM IS YOUR OWN. WE CAN HELP YOU WITH THE PLAN.

TIAA-CREF Supplemental Retirement Annuities (SRAs), tax-deferred annuities for people like you in education and research, are a good way to save for retirement and save on taxes now. SRAs are easy—you make contributions through your institution before your taxes are calculated, so you pay less tax now.

You pay no tax on your SRA contributions and earnings until you receive them as income. And saving regularly means your contributions and their earnings can add up quickly.

What else makes SRAs so special? A broad range of allocation choices, from the safety of TIAA to the investment accounts of CREF's variable annuity; no sales charges; a variety of ways to receive income, including annuities, payments over a fixed period, or cash. You may also be able to borrow against your SRA accumulation before you retire.*

All this, plus the top investment management that has helped make TIAA-CREF the largest retirement system in the country.

So start dreaming and planning for the time of your life. Because the sooner you start your SRA, the greater your savings and your retirement will be.

EVP threatens to stay next year

UPD arrests PorkHer for violation of 'having no life' bylaw

by Rast A. Farlan
Quit-It Smoker

Outgoing Impotent Association Executive Vice President Dave PorkHer had to be forcibly removed from campus yesterday after threatening to stick around the Student Association and GW for yet another year.

Erstwhile SA President Klyde Farm Boy ordered University Police to make the arrest. "I just couldn't let that happen to GW," Farm Boy pontificated. "I mean he's been here since the early '80s. He just wasn't getting the hint. It was time for action."

PorkHer was officially charged with having no life, under a previously unenforced bylaw of the University Code. University Pollacks director Turkish Goode said that although the arrest was unprecedented, he was happy to do it.

"Fuck him," Goode said.

PorkHer, speaking to the Quit-It in an interview from Lorton prison, said he wanted to stay at GW because he really has no clue what else to do. "I mean, c'mon, I've pretty much alienated everyone I've ever met. That doesn't leave many job opportunities," he said. "Besides, despite all the time I've been at GW, I really haven't done anything. You guys know as well as I do that EVP is a joker position — not much of a resume builder."

After his overnight stay in prison, PorkHer said he may have found a new home. "Everybody here is so nice. They are really not as vicious as everybody says," he said. "Hell, my cellmate really likes me. He's already calling me 'his little bitch.' That's nicer than anything any of my GW roommates ever said."

Campaign '92 turns into full-fledged orgy

by Jumbo Light My Fire
Quit-It Chickenhead

Former Stupid Association presidential candidates Can It Fail, Chris Fourth-floorson, "Jelly Donut" Griffin, Gary Holdandfeelme, Marc Withering-Heights, Jason Woody-man and Jim Pushonherback have charged that fellow candidate MoanTo Rise'Em forced them to have sex with her during the campaign.

SA President-elect Michael Make-lovetome also alleged that Rise'Em forced him to have sex with her, but she claims the two had a passionate love affair prior to the campaign. "So many times I almost withdrew from the campaign because I couldn't stand to run against him . . . I loved him," Rise'Em said.

When asked about the affair, Make-lovetome said, "She's got a lot of problems . . . we never had an affair and I didn't love her."

"I didn't know what to do . . . she cornered me after a basketball game and before I knew it we were behind the Smith Center," WitheringHeights admitted. He claimed the incident scared him for life and ruined his campaign. "I don't think I'll ever get over what happened."

Holdandfeelme alleged that Rise 'Em attacked him on his way out of the financial aid office one day. "She dragged me into the stairwell and forced me to . . . I can't even repeat it," he said with tears in his eyes.

Woody-man said he does not remember anything about the incident.

Griffin said he was "connived, peer-pressured or otherwise enticed" to have intercourse with Rise'Em.

Other sources say Rise'Em slept around with many of her constituents, in an attempt to secure votes. Rise 'Em said of the allegations, "I wouldn't sleep around for votes . . . how could I do that when I love Mike Makelovetome," she proclaimed.

Makelovetome said he would like to ensure Rise'Em will stay away from the fourth floor next year, especially while she completes her pledge program for the Omega Mu sorority. "If she wants to scream to get what she wants she can't be near my office," he said.

Quit-It editors let it all hang out

Hapless Quit-It Asst. Sports Editor Rinse Puss was found passed out late Tuesday night in a broom closet in Lisner Auditorium with a mop pole jammed half way up his ass. "I don't really remember how it happened," Puss whined while en route to GW Hospital. Sources close to Puss say he had been sobbing after breaking up with Miss Michigan. The long, wooden shaft was "as big as a human at its largest," according to a University Cops report.

The erstwhile Snob Greenpeace, Quit-It BedStories Editor, allegedly lost his testicles after wearing span-dex for six straight days on a bicycle. He intends to undergo surgery to have the cajones replaced. Asst. Sperms Editor Hoagie Stolzen-burgermeisterbrau has volunteered to donate one of his testicles to his dear friend. It is unsure where the other ball will come from.

Kurt Co-pain, lead vocalist/guitarist for the latest Seattle band Nirvana, has pulled through major surgery to remove parts of his Fender Stratocaster from his forehead. Apparently, at the band's last gig at the Capital Center in Columbia, MD, Co-pain began smashing his guitar — into his forehead. Several pieces also struck an unfortunate fan in the front row, knocking out a few teeth and breaking his nose. The trendy wannabe, identified as Susie Q, has decided not to press charges, commenting, "Kurt (Co-pain) has got to be the most awesome looking guitarist — except for Matthew and Gunnar (Nelson), of course. That concert was the most fun I've had in my entire 12 years!"

Kevin Costner was arrested in a New York City last week after exposing his rosy cheeks to a 50 year old kindergarten teacher in a convenience store. Costner's buns have graced the screen of almost every movie theater in America with his hit movies Dances With Wolves and Robin Hood. From behind bars in New York City Prison Central, Costner said the convenience store stunt was a psychological reaction to his disappointment over not being able to bare his behind in the recent controversial film, JFK.

Stargazer reveals GW's fate in '92-'93

by George Hamilton
Very Tan

GW Vice President and Astrological Forecaster Doc "Swami" Hobble has completed a celestial study to determine the events the future holds for next year and announced the results in an EXCLUSIVE interview with the GW Quit-It yesterday.

Swami, who is retiring from his position this year and being replaced by Nancy Reagan's astrologer, said his predictions for the upcoming year are "100 percent accurate and true."

The following is a list of some of Swami's predictions which are most likely to come true, excluding those too explicit to print:

Expenses will be cut significantly by the GW administration to reduce overall operating costs in the next year to make GW more competitive. To do so, all courses listed in the schedule of classes beginning with the letter N or taught by professors with doctorate degrees will be axed. A new 700-series class entitled "Dealing with Limited Class Availability" will be offered to help students deal with the changes.

Shitty Paper cartoonist Shawn Belchswinder will get a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame.

The accelerator of Trouble 2 will stick on Oct. 12, and the yellow PPD cart, carrying a 50 gallon drum of nitroglycerine for the CIA, will crash through the doors of Gelman Library and explode on impact with a stone-skulled employee. The library and immediate area will be leveled, leaving only the adjacent clock standing in the ruins. GW will reconstruct the library, filing charred books on the "to be reshelfed" carts.

Gravity will continue to exist, prompting someone to jump out of some window somewhere on campus.

Former Stupid Association Executive Vice Penis hopeful Jasper Fjord will perm his auburn hair in an effort to appear more like world renowned master clown Bozo in the hopes of landing a job after graduation.

Gunnar Nelson of Nelson fame will replace George as the Colonial mascot.

Despite concerted Joke Elections Clowns' efforts no one will run for Engineering School graduate senator position.

National Lewd Center professor Jon Bonzai will sue himself for $100,000 when he sneezes while shaving and cuts off his earlobe. "People's Court" Judge Joseph Whopper will hold a pay-per-view cable special to hear the case.

A powerful earthquake will strike in California, leaving thousands dead. Campus Low-life Director Stormin' LeNorman Weak, on vacation in San Bernadino, will pull 12 survivors from the rubble of a Taco Bell.

Former Colonials Basketball Center Myron "Hannibal" Hopkins will be asked to start for the Team USA Olympic basketball team this summer when Michael Jordan suffers an 11th-hour ego injury.

Two men will have sex in a Marvin Center bathroom.

by Bite Me!

Axl Poser greeted the sellout crowd at the Smith Center Saturday night in typical Guns n' Roses fashion — loud, offensive and late. When Poser finally stumbled onstage at 2 a.m. to deliver the lyrics to "Get in the Ring," the 3,000 fans had been waiting more than six hours and had been on the verge of a riot. After screaming, "I'd like to crush your head tight in my vice! Pain!" Axl pounced around the stage in tight spandex shorts, wearing dog tags, necklaces, crosses, a rosary and a ring in his left nipple.

Axl Poser as usual — loud, offensive and late

After the opening number ended, Poser explained the six-hour delay, saying that he had "a fuckin' nervous breakdown" and couldn't perform earlier. "I just didn't feel like going onstage, and I thought, what the hell, I come first, you know, fuck everybody else! If there's any motherfucker that wants his money back, he can fuck with me after the show!"

At this point, some little weasel wearing red suspenders — who turned out to be Student Association President-elect Mikey Pissante, pounced onto the stage and whined, "I want my goddamn money, you mean motherfucker!" These were Pissante's last conscious words, as Poser kicked Pissante in the balls and the other band members stripped him buck naked and hung him by his suspenders from the lighting fixtures.

In addition to songs from their Use Your Delusion I and Use Your Delusion II albums, the group performed classic tunes from their earlier days, including "Paradise City," "Patience" and every bitch's favorite, "I Used to Love Her," which Poser dedicated to some Pubic Board slut he had shacked up with six hours before.

Throughout the performance, Poser, who appeared to be under the influence of both drugs and alcohol — nothing unusual, of course, for heavy metal-heads — made offensive, lewd comments to the female JAPs in the front row. Boasting his bulging penis, he told the heavy metal babes to take a number and he would personally bang each one of them after the show in the privacy of his own tour bus. Upon hearing this, the girls squealed with delight — in the most obnoxious of accents — "O moy God! We're gonna get laid by Axl Poser!" They then started to undress, revealing a wide variety of styles of open-breast lingerie, crotchless panties and leather bras. Two 700-lb. stage guards quickly dragged the girls outside, bruising their bosoms in the process.

Meanwhile, the other members of the band, bassist Fluff McKagan, drummer Matt Semen and keyboardist Dizzy Weed paid little or no attention to Poser's antics. Lead rhythm guitarist Slush appeared to be in a world of his own as he strummed his guitar, never once peering from beneath his nest of black, unwashed, stringy hair.

Poser continued to express disgust and hatred for members of the press, especially during "Get in the Ring," when he chanted, "And that goes for all you punks at the Quit-It! that want to start shit by printin' lies . . . fuck you/suck my fuckin' dick."

Towards the end of the performance, Poser spotted the camera of Quit-It photographer Sloe Gin Fizz and dove into the audience, throttled Fizz and attempted to shove the camera equipment down Fizz' throat. In the riot that ensued, the photographer and approximately 100 other fans were nearly trampled to death. As of press time, there were no fatalities and all of the victims, including Fizz, were listed in critical condition at GW Mediocre Center.

The misfortunes of a few students, however, did little to the crowd of inebriated — what else could they be? — G n' R fans from enjoying the rest of the concert after Poser made a lame attempt at an apology. "Hey, motherfuckers, I'm sorry one fucking photographer tried to ruin the evening for everyone else, but goddammit, the show must go on!" The rest of the band, unaware that anything out of the ordinary had occurred, launched into the last tune, "You Could Be Mine."

When the band returned to the stage for an encore, Poser cut his hand on one of the microphone stands and began bleeding profusely. After wrapping his hand in a towel, he continued singing "Live and Let Die" and let some of the remaining lady rockers in the front row to taste his blood. He then encouraged them to write "Death to Pigs" all over the stage.

by Moron Belch

Pop superstar Michael Jackson announced in a televised press conference yesterday his plans for a sex change operation at GW Mediocre Center.

Jackson said the conviction to go through with the operation he has long contemplated came to him during his brief visit to Tower Records on 21st Street across from the Clod Hex Marvin Center.

"I made my decision when I saw a man I recognized from (D.C. bar) Tracks, where I'd partied the night before. Except that night he'd been dressed as a woman. I think it's awful for people to have to live that way," he sighed wistfully.

"I am a woman at heart, I want to be a woman," he said. Gesturing to the bulge protruding against his tight leather pants he said, "This, there's nothing you can do but just Beat It."

Jackson has already had extensive cosmetic facial surgery that made his cheek bones higher, his nose smaller and his lips thinner. He said many people have complimented him on his delicate look and he feels the sex change operation would complete the metamorphosis.

"I was meant to be a woman," Jackson said. "I'm a very sensitive person," he added.

Jackson said he is anxious to have the operations, which should be completed by late summer. "It's going to be a real Thriller," he said. With regards to his career and performances, Jackson said he does not expect many changes. "I don't feel that this is a major change in my identity," Jackson said. "My music won't change and Madonna grabs her crotch too. I think my fans will see me differently, but I'll really be the same person inside. I'm just me."

Jackson said he will be making the changes in appearance that generally accompany this type of operation. He said he will be updating his wardrobe in a more feminine style and changing his name to Michelle.

"I think Michelle is a good name. It is the natural choice," he said.

Jackson said his/her changes will be revealed in the May edition of Playboy. The layout will reportedly be a tribute to his sister LaToya. "I just want to follow in her footsteps. I know this is the right thing and I want to do the same things with the python."

Transvestites and transsexuals nationwide are applauding Jackson's decision. "It's simply amazing that such a big important star is going public with his operation," one listener said. "It's going to change things for transsexuals and cross dressers everywhere."

Following the press conference, which was fully covered by CNN-if there's-no-news-now-we'll-go-make-some, street marches and spontaneous rallies of cross-dressers and transsexuals erupted in several cities. Police stationed in the Dupont Circle area reportedly had to step in to control a mass of almost 200 people — mostly men dressed in women's clothing — who obstructed Circle traffic near New Hampshire Avenue, dancing and singing lyrics from Jackson's hit, "Bad."

always envious of Hole's perky melons, approached her co-editor before winter break to discuss the operation's possibility. At the meeting, Hole confessed her admiration of Belch's ample bosom. Mediocre School Dean RobHer Heimywits agreed to perform the surgery for an undisclosed fee.

Spears Editor Snot Airhead was arrested last week for stuffing marijuana into his anus, in what he called "an awesome new way of getting high." Airhead claims to have discovered the technique at a Dead show during spring break. "It works really well with whip-its, too," he explained of his rectal methods. Airhead was also charged with possession of three grams of PCP, two kilos of cocaine and four sheets of acid tabs. "You try and teach these kids," sobbed Blues Editor DubMe Swallowmen. "These drugs will kill you. Everyone's got to stop taking drugs and selling drugs. I hate drugs!!!!" she screamed.

After searching for three months, University Flatfoots have finally captured Quit-It Asst. Snooze Editor Paul Connilingus. He is being charged with molesting GW founder Anne Mobster and stabbing to death Insideher Founder Weenie Milstand. Milstand was found with 74 stab wounds and 44 ripped Inside-hers strewn around his body. "It was the Irishman in me," Connilingus said upon his arrest. Mobster is not pressing charges, saying, "He was pretty good — and hung like a whale. It was the best sex I've had in 62 years."

Quit-It Foto Editor Schlone Ginand- tonic was dismissed from the Quit-It staff after it was discovered he was making moonshine out of photography chemicals. "We always wondered what that smell on his breath was," commented Quit-It Big Cheese Sled Notch. "When we found the distilling equipment in the dark room we got suspicious. And finally when he developed film by just sticking the roll in his mouth — then we knew," Notch said, waving his hands all about.

Blues Editor DubMe Swallowmen and Asst. Sporting Editor Hoagie Stolzenburgermeisterbrau have announced their engagement, after eight months of secret rendezvous in Swallowmen's closet. "It was time to come out of the closet," Stolzenburgermeisterbrau laughed.

Quit-It Mangling Asshole Geoff Moldfart was arrested Saturday for attempting to rape George, the school mascot. "I just love a man who can wield an axe," Moldfart said with a sly grin.

George was not happy with the unprovoked attack: "I was going across the Quad when this naked joker jumps me and pulls down my pantaloons. I was lucky a cop was around, you should have seen what he did to the St. Joe's mascot last month."

Quit-It Slanderer-in-Chief Fred Splotch was found lying naked in the middle of Dupont Circle with a Duo's pizza pie stuffed down his throat. When questioned about the incident Splotch said, "Umm . . . Uh, Uh, I don't know what happened, Uh, Uh, I think . . . you know, yeah . . . well, what I mean is . . . uh . . ."

Metropolitan Stunt Cops said they found a note attached to Splotch reading, "A Drunken, Naked Fred is an awesome, awful sight." According to police, they are searching for Splotch's roommate, Long-Haired Redfield. It is believed that after Splotch refused to order Duo's pizza, Redfield forced an LSD tab down Splotch's throat and left him lying naked in Dupont Circle. The rest is history.

Jumbo Edit-at-Will Lighter has been taken to GW Hospital to have her lips surgically removed from Quit-It Masochistic Editor Snuff Moldfart's ass. "I thought that was where they belonged," Lighter said. Police have not stopped laughing long enough to comment.

fuckin' smile. Whether you're stoned or sober, you turn around and there are 10,000 people with that same fuckin' smile," Farm Boy said with dilated pupils.

Despite his absence from the office, Farm Boy said he has been doing GW work while on tour. "I haven't been shirking my responsibilities. I got a backstage pass in Ontario and talked to the guys about playing at Spring Fling. They were pretty cool about it and I think they'll show — I gave them good directions."

"We didn't try to coerce anyone. Donoho just wants to make some more news so he can get his name in the paper. I may support a candidate but who the hell cares? We're just students, this isn't the real world. Besides, the administration takes us seriously," Booby said.

Political Association Vice President for Judicial Affairs Dumbo Perched Back said he is outraged with the court. "What are they, baked? This is ridiculous. I am submitting a proposal to implement a petition to be granted permission to form an alternate organization to be known formally as Students Against the Court," Perched Back said.

"Donoho is probably making it all up," Political Association candidate Marc Shrivels said, "That guy's always had something against me."

"I'm not going to be biased because I'm the defendant. I can try this case in the strictest judicial sense. However, the charges are unjust, we never threatened him, we just voted in favor of the paper ballots, nothing else was necessary. This court is the most objective student group on campus. Just because I posted for Tarlater, am wearing his pin and distributed flyers for him, I am totally removed from his campaign," on your Honor said.

Rice Hall execs bounce checks

by Your Mom

A Lovely Woman

GW President Steamy Roll Crackingjerk and other administrators have bounced thousands of checks over the past three years at the Rice Hall bank, depleting millions of dollars in University funds and resulting in tuition and housing increases. The Rice Hall bank covered the checks by dipping into the GW endowment, which is now down to just $7.

"Sucks for you guys," Crackingjerk said when asked about the checks. "I'll admit it, sure I bounced some checks, hundreds of them, and sure, students are going to end up paying for them, but that's not my problem now is it?"

One bad check for $1,324,000 went for the purchase of a 130-foot high bronze statue of Crackingjerk's mom, Shoshana, to be placed atop the Marvin Center in the fall. "I don't think the student award in my parent's name does them justice. My mom deserves this shrine. She was twice the man of anyone I know."

Vice President Robber Churning-Yuck kited 323 bad checks, including one for $132,000 used to buy new uniforms for the basketball teams. "Look, we're jumpin' to the big time and that means new uniforms for every game. Never the same look twice. And if I bounced a check to achieve that, then that's just too fucking bad," Churning-Yuck said.

Crackingjerk said he is not too concerned with the whole matter. "This is just another way we've been screwing with students, and now they know about it. I did it all the time when I was president of the University of Hartford, and if it becomes a big deal, I'll just go somewhere else to spend other people's money. By the way, I went to Harvard, Yale and Columbia, but not all at the same time," he said.

Responding to questions that his actions may have been unethical, Crackingjerk responded, "Un-what?"

Treasurer Lewd Dogs also got in on the check bouncing. "Everyone else was always bouncing checks and I warned them that it wasn't nice. Then I realized that it's pretty cool to spend free money, so I tried to buy myself a nice piece of ass on 14th Street, but they don't take checks. So I bought breast implants for my wife, but that's a whole 'nother matter altogether," he said.

Tarnwho elected hair club prez

by Fish Gill Chewy
Merchant of Death

Stupidest Asses-in-the-nation Executive Vice Flusie Jon Tarnwho once again trounced Joker "Bozo" Forked, this time in the race for president of the Hair Club for Men, capturing 83 percent as opposed to 17 percent for Forked. "I can't believe it," Tarnwho said. "For sure, I thought the results would be closer and even thought I was going to lose. Now I can be a client!"

In an exclusive GW Quit-It exit poll, most voters said they could identify with and sympathize for Tarnwho and his hair condition. They saw Tarnwho's blandness and boring nature as irrelevant to the race.

However, voters did consider whether Tarnwho — the vice flusie and a resident ass at Thrusting Hall — would have enough time to lead the organization, but dismissed it since, as one voter said, "The Vice-Flusie and the Senate does nothing and when was the last time an RA at Thrusting did their job?"

The victory for Tarnwho was also a referendum on the status of the club since Forked ran on a platform of changing the club's leadership from a single president to a House of Representatives, including its own bank and post office. Forked was disappointed with his showing and vowed to try again next year if he lost more hair.

"I don't know what I will do in the meantime," Forked said. "I guess I'll go back to being ringmaster of the carnival or maybe I'll try to set up a House of Representatives for our national government . . . Oh, we have one of those."

Tarnwho said his first act as president will be to try to convince GW basketball god Mike Jaundice to appear in a commercial to endorse the club, along with ESPN and ABC basketball commentator Dick "Motormouth" Vitale.

"We need credible people to show that bald is beautiful," Tarnwho said. "Also, I want to know where he gets those wonderful ties of his."

In a statement to the press, Jaundice said he would have to seriously consider whether he would do the ad. "I have no idea why this University wants to constantly make an issue of my lack of hair," he said. "If I can stand the babbling of that idiot Vitale, maybe I'll do it."

New Health Ctr. named for Wilson

by Maryann Kashimi
Quit-It Nightmare

The Board of Trustees voted unanimously Friday to officially name the soon-to-be-built Health and Wellness Center the Esteemed John Wilson Honorary Fitness Building, according to BOT Chairman Oliver Auto.

"He's a bastion of physical fitness," Auto said late last night, citing the primary reason why Wilson was chosen to be the namesake of the new structure. Auto claims the fact that GW needs all sort of zoning approval, is seeking lots of money from the District budget to expand GW Hospital and wants plenty of favors from D.C. government in general played absolutely no part in the decision to name the building after the D.C. City Council chairman. "He has the strength of 10 men, really," Auto exclaimed. "I've seen him bench press 440, dunk a basketball and do five one-armed push-ups with University Sheriff Jack-n-Jill Castle on his back in a 10-minute span."

delighted with the choice and said, "John Wilson is a truly wonderful man. He is a beautiful person inside and quite good looking, too."

Along with having his name in gold on the building, Wilson will have his own personal basketball, racquetball and squash courts. He will be permitted to use the facility alone any time he chooses and SlappedHerButt will take two hours a day to be Wilson's personal towel boy and give the city councilman a sponge bath each morning.

Assistant Athletic Supporter Mike "Weasel" Garschlono, who does nothing but watch basketball practice, had nothing particularly intelligent to say about the decision, or anything else, for that matter.

Recreational Sports director Knobby Jones, who is very much looking forward to the new structure, said he didn't really care who the building was named after. "I don't do much of anything, but I'd sure love a bigger office anyway," he said.

D.C. delegate shows SA freaks the ropes

by Juicy Tidbits
Circus Freakshow Flunky

D.C. Deal-a-gate Eleasnore Homes Northern made a special guest appearance at the Stupid Assholes' Circus Freak show meeting last Monday night to inform the freaks on the proper method of making the meetings more pointless and stupid.

"The key," she said, "is to make sure all the freaks have other things to talk about, don't pay attention when bills are being introduced, and announce points of stupidity — rules that all freaks must abide by, but that no one, except for show barker Bill Beef-A-Roni, and Freak Jay Maytheschwartzbwithu, have any clue what they are — every five to 10 seconds, this way, you'll waste more time, and be able to piss everyone off, which is the true goal of any good circus freak show."

Freak and Circus Ringleader Bozo Ford incorrectly entered a bill to light up the student tennis courts as a resolution, thereby breaking about 3,000 circus rules.

SA Vice Penis for Junk Bonds Jimbo Perchfront slapped Ford with a $100 polyester suit, saying, "He broke a rule, there is a big difference between a resolution and a bill and he should be punished." Perchfront was speaking on behalf of his client, Weasel-in-waiting Mighty Mooseanti.

When asked why he brought the suit, Mooseanti replied, "Well, if the suit fits, wear it, and besides, as Weasel-in-waiting I think I deserve to get more press in the oh-so-loved GW Quit-It."

Freak Jennnn "Call me Pollyana" Greenjeans supported Ford, saying, "I really don't see a big difference between a bill and a resolution, I mean, we try to do something half way serious and we get shot down by position seeking weasels, namely Mooseanti."

Freak-at-large Drew Leap-Frog agreed with Greenjeans. "I disapprove of freak show members using the show to try to further their own political gains, and if reelected, I promise I will never do that, so please vote for me."

Head Freak and resident weasel, Dave "I'm gonna beat the shit out of you" Porker decided to table the whole affair and any future bills brought before the freaks for the next 50 years. "Frankly, I'm going to get kicked around by a better class of people than the freaks, so they can all go to hell. I'm through," he said.

The Canadian Duck Hunters bill of 1992 was unanimously passed by the freaks. The bill, sponsored by Mooseanti, said the Freaks supported the work of the duck hunters and if they ever needed help, the freaks would be there. "We have also formally recognized Albania as no longer communist and openly support Mikhail Gorbachev's criticisms of Boris Yeltsin," Mooseanti said.

Men's sock'um stars fight their way to top

by Vincenzo Robatussin

Sporting Fool

Universal Studios is pursuing GW's sock'um team goalie Robert Not-A-Christian and forward Super Mario Alone to join the television show "American Gladiators."

"Gladiators" spokesman Brain Dead said that the show wants the two to compete in a new event, the Rock 'n' Roll. In it, contestants gain points by reaching a door while evading rocks, bricks and bottles one gladiator throws at them. If the contestants reach the door, they then have to fight another gladiator.

"Not-A-Christian and Alone have proved themselves qualified with their experience at GW," Dead said. "We want only the best and the knowledgeable at 'American Gladiators.'"

Dead explained that the show wants to expand on to an international market and they need to add gladiators that market can identify with. He sees the Rock 'n' Roll as a popular event overseas because of its wide appeal in places like Jerusalem and Korea.

If the two GW soccer standouts joined the show, Dead said they would have nicknames like the rest of their Gladiators. Ideas are in the planning stages, but he said that Not-A-Christian would probably be "Blockhead," but Alone could keep "Super Mario."

Not-A-Christian, a sophomore from the Isle of the Fall of Man, England, was surprised to learn of the offer. "Blimey, I would love it," he said. "I'd jump at the chance to be paid for what the average English sock'um fan does every weekend. I proved at GW I can beat the living shit out of anyone, so naturally I should move up a level."

Alone, however, said he was not impressed with the level of the competition in the U.S. and would reject the offer. "For my career, I need to go to a country where fucking people up is part of the national culture. GW and Washington are close, but I will probably go to Lebanon, Iraq or South America. Maybe they should talk to my twin brother Luigi."

Dictator of Calisthenics and Masturbation Dweeb Bill-them-some-more-ski said he wasn't sure if the offer was serious but would regret Not-A-Christian leaving. "I don't think anyone knows all the facts, but we sure would miss that little felon," he said.

Sock'um head coach Gorgeous George Spinster said he knew nothing about the proceedings or Not-A-Christian. "What, we have a goalie on this team?" he said. "That's a shock for me. I never knew he existed. That explains why we lost those games."

Spinster also said that he thinks that accepting the Gladiator offer would be the worst thing for Alone's career. "It's very frustrating for a purist. Any other player would be jumping up and down. Super Mario is a purist."

GW President Sleepin' Jowls Trash-in-the-butt said the television exposure of the two would add to the school's prestige.

Quit-It fooled again by Slanderson scandal

by Hoagie Stolzenburgermeisterbrau

Deluded Snorts Wannabe

In the biggest scandal since the 1991 GW baseball preview issue, the GW Quit-It uncovered that wounded pitching god Bill Slanderson's throwing arm is perfectly healthy.

In an exclusive interview, Slanderson was surprised to find out that his arm was not "damaged goods."

"They told me that if I improve my arm strength, I would be able to heal faster and that's what I've been doing every night before I go to sleep alone," Slanderson said.

The Quit-It Snorts investigative team of Rinse Puss and Hoagie Stogie combined in an undercover sting operation, which included mini-cameras in all the players rooms, tips from anonymous baseball players (Matt My-aim-is-off), bugging of the baseball team's office and the abduction and drugging of captains Mike Welch's-Grape-Jelly and Dave (Not Chevy Chase) Fletcher.

"Puss and Stogie have it all on tape," Quit-It Snorts Figurehead Snot Ganja said during a quick toke. "This wasn't a lucky scoop. This is a designed operation, a real RED X-K27 technique. Snorts propaganda can't force us to recant this time."

The investigation revealed that the cover-up goes all the way to the top as head coach (yea, he'll last through the season) Jay Smurfy has been making illegal gambling bets with former baseball heavy "Long" John Dingleberry.

After getting seized, drugged and tortured by the Quit-It team, Smurfy confessed. "Alright, I have been betting against this team. They suck! I need the money for when I get canned. But I'm not behind the whole thing. The weasels in the front office are responsible."

The aforementioned weasels refer to Assistant Scumbag for the Advancement of Himself Mighty Garschlono and Dictator of Calisthenics and Masturbation Dweeb Bill-them-some-more-ski.

"Those front-office jokers are full of horse-shit," Slanderson said. "I'm not even going to return to this godforsaken school. I'm going to walk-on to the New York Yankees starting rotation. Hell! Even My-aim-is-off could make that staff."

President Sleepin' Jowls Trash-in-the-butt commented on the pitching god's far from nice comments about GW. "Slanderson doesn't know anything. Everyone knows that scholarship athletes can't speak for themselves."

My-aim-is-off has slapped the Quit-It with a defamation of character lawsuit along with failed SA Executive Vice-Flusie candidate Jason Chevy. "By revealing this, Puss and Stogie ruined my chances for big-league recognition. If Slanderson comes back, he'll pitch all our games because the rest of us healthy pitchers suck."

Puss took all the credit for the revelation and even had a small speech prepared. "They had it coming! They've been on double-secret probation since last year's farm animal incident. Stogie and I are a New-Age Woodward and Bernstein. It's this kind of organization and reporting I will promote next year as Snorts editor."

Reportedly, Puss and Stogie will next detail why the Quit-It is so enamored with their favorite basketbabe Debbie "I'd like to" Hammer-you. "She's definitely a hot one," Stogie said. "Assistant blues editor Paulie 'Irish Mad Dog' O'Canada, along with the rest of the staff, just drool over every picture of her. Her ample bosom bounces just like the old roundball."

Snorts briefs

The GW crew and swimming team have been lost at sea, according to reports from GW Snorts Propaganda and Universal Peace.

Snorts Propaganda Dictator Betsy Boop said that crew was practicing at 2 a.m. when they were carried out to the Potomac by the bodies of the swim team that were strapped to the bottom of the boats to make them go faster.

Universal Peace learned of the incident when they found the drowned body of GW Quit-It Snorts Figurehead Snot Ganja and his notebook which included the confession "As if I'm going to print it."

Newly crowned Snorts Kaiser Hoges Give-me-a-meisterbrau said he could give more information about the boating accident, but decided not, saying, "We need this layout space for more important things, like more interviews with Super Mario LoneScorer, Jenn "NASTY" Shasta, Quit-It postergirl Debbie "I'd like to" Hammer-you, and my personal favorite, wounded pitching god Bill Slanderson (see related story)."

Reports surfaced today that GW Dictator for Erotics and Procreation Steal "Buffalo" Billski has used the GW women's athletics program as his personal brothel. Several members of the women's soccer, gymnastics and volleyball teams have been seen leaving Billski's house at strange hours of the morning. In interviews with the Quit-It, Billski claimed they were just baby-sitting his kids.

After further pressure, such as the ancient Chinese water torture, Billski finally confessed, saying "Title IX gives women's programs equal billing to those of men's, so I thought I would treat them the same way as I've men's athletes the past couple years."

One gymnast confirmed the entire affair. "He forced us, saying it was conditional for our scholarships since we don't add any revenues to the school. If we didn't we find ourselves out of a job just like former GW jockstrap carrier Johnny Q-tip-ster."

However, Billski reportedly did not approach basketbabe Debbie "I'd like to" Hammer-you, gaining shouts of praise of the Quit-It drooling male staff. Billski said he was saving her for television commentators Dick Vitale and Jim Valvano after the GW men's basketball team won the NCAA Championship in two years. Vitale responded, saying "Oh baby, she's going to prime-time and find out why we're called V&V Movers."

Wonder bread removes warm-up

by Zam Boni

Quit-It Housekeeper

Seven-foot bench-ridden freshman center Larry, Daryl and Daryl Gillete removed his warm-up and moved towards GW men's basketball team head coach Mikey Jaundice in an intrasquad scrimmage last week.

Although Jaundice quickly instructed Gillete to sit back down, Gillete had already pulled his warmup over his head. Technically, he was still in possession of the item when the bald coach screamed, "Get your sorry butt back on the bench," but Gillete said he was happy with his accomplishment.

"I mean, c'mon, sure I didn't actually play but I did take my warm-up off," Gillete said. "Coach tells us everyone has a role on this team and mine is to keep the bench from slipping off the face of the earth in case gravity suddenly ceases. I'm only a freshman, so I never really expected to remove the warm-up. You gotta pay your dues."

Junior shooting guard Lurch Swirls stormed out of practice upon seeing Gillete rise from the bench.

"What do you expect me to do? Its bad enough I have to play with one big, slow, non-scorin' scrub in Kill Swing'Em, when I saw Gillete take off the warm-up, I couldn't take it."

Typically, Jaundice downplayed the incident. "We're just playing for March," he said. "You know as well as I do that Gillete will never play a minute in his life. Think about it. He was too sorry to look at the court this season and next year we'll have Yinka. Looks like Larry, Daryl and Daryl will be suckin' up bench and tuition money for the next four years."

Upon hearing of Jaundice' assessment of his potential, Gillete put everything into perspective by saying, "Maybe I'll give Niagara a call," supposedly referring to the school his idol, former GW center Shaggy Holtz, now attends.

GW Department of Dianetics and Segregation Weasel Tyke Gargonzo said he was confused when Gillete rose from the bench. "I couldn't believe it," he wondered. "I mean, I sat down to watch practice for the afternoon after playing a couple of games of racquetball and hitting a few wide open jumpshots and next thing I knew he moved. I've watched practice at least four hours a day the whole season and he never even moved before. But I figured Mikey knew what he was doing. I like Mikey."
